As an active pedestrian from a family of active pedestrians, bicyclists and BTA members, I feel that I could contribute helpful experience to the Bicycle Pedestrian Advisory Committee of Multnomah County. Though I do not often bicycle, I am an avid walker – with and without my two seventy-pound dogs. I recently attended the Active Transportation Summit in Salem, which prompted my interest in transportation on a community and planning level.

I have a B.A. in English from Whitman College, and a B.S. in Civil Engineering from Portland State University. My professional experience includes secretarial and administrative work, marketing, geotechnical inspection and civil engineering. I currently work as a civil engineer for municipalities.

My work includes a wide variety of projects, but in particular I have both designed and inspected the construction of pedestrian and bicycle improvement projects. As a civil engineer, I believe that my technical background could contribute a useful perspective. I have always been a dedicated pedestrian, and my professional interest in pedestrian facilities is constantly expanding the more I walk and observe. Professionally, I feel that there is enormous value in observing these facilities. Personally, I enjoy thinking and talking about transportation.

The firm I work for does not work for City of Portland or Multnomah County, but for small to medium-sized local agencies - which I believe share several similar absent and insufficient transportation issues with this County. In particular, the public involvement aspect of my work has repeatedly shown me that in many areas, the majority of pedestrians and bicyclists are children, the elderly, and the disenfranchised - and that the allocation of funding and projects for alternative facilities is weighted by that fact. I have no applicable community involvement with transportation, but I think that my experience and perspective would be of value to the BPCAC.
