Short Bios for New Members Recommended for Appointment to BPCAC

Mr. William Boehm is a Troutdale resident after living in East Portland for over fifteen years. He identifies with his experience of having epilepsy and walking or using Trimet daily to meet his transportation needs. He has prior experience working on public committees for planning projects in SW Idaho

Mr. Carl Larson is an employee of the Bicycle Transportation Alliance (BTA) who serves as the organization's Citizen Advocacy Coordinator. His prior work experience with the BTA includes working with Safe Routes to School. He attended the County's Bicycle and Pedestrian Citizen Advisory Committee meetings as a member of the public in 2006 and 2007.

Ms. Ericka Nelson is a Sauvie Island resident who advocates for safer roads for pedestrian and bicyclists. She co-founded the GoGreen Conference and is the owner of a sustainability-focused business that promotes social cause events for non-profit organizations.

Mr. Matt Picio is a co-founder of the popular non-profit, CycleWild, which aims to connect people with nature via bicycle. He is familiar with bicycling on the rural roads in Multnomah County, has extensive experience in the Portland-region bike community, and previously served on the BPCAC from 2007 to 2009.

Ms. Jane Wallis is a civil engineer who works with small and medium-sized municipalities. She identifies as a pedestrian and advocates for improved pedestrian facilities. Her interest in community planning stems from public engagement work for her company and from attending regional transportation events.

Ms. Susan Watts is a resident of unincorporated Multnomah County in the West Hills and is a member of the Skyline Ridge Neighborhood Association. She is frequent bike rider, both for recreation and commuting. She works as a Construction Manager for the Portland Bureau of Parks and Recreation, and is familiar with the design and construction of bike and pedestrian trails.

Mr. Jonathan Winslow is an active member of the Plans and Projects Committee for the Willamette Pedestrian Coalition. He also serves on the Transportation Committee for his neighborhood association, the Northwest District Association and travels exclusively by foot, bike, and transit.
