Re: Personal Statement re Library Advisory Board Interest Form

To Whom It May Concern:

I am excited about the possibility of joining the Advisory Board, and I write to supplement my Library Advisory Board Interest Form. I recently met with Katie Lane to express my interest in the board and learn more about the board's work and functions. I am an avid user of our local library (Northwest 23rd location) and my young son never misses (and adores) the weekly tots and toddler storytime. With my background in both the law and elementary education, I hope I can make valuable contributions to the Advisory Board if I am given an opportunity to volunteer.

Very truly yours,

Adam M. Starr

Adam Starr is a commercial litigator who recently joined the firm from the bay area where he was a litigation associate with Miller Starr Regalia, one of California's preeminent real estate law firms.

At Miller Starr Regalia, Adam represented clients in many complex commercial and business litigation matters, including disputes involving construction finance, secured contracts, lien priority and mechanic's liens, title insurance, condemnation and eminent domain, and federal and state environmental issues.

As a former kindergarten teacher, Adam learned the importance of clear communication, and knowing his audience. He has successfully translated these skills to the legal world, and is known for crafting persuasive arguments for hearings and trials, and for producing entertaining and creative presentations for his many speaking engagements. He is skilled at drafting clear and concise briefs, motions and other pleadings for cases in trial courts and courts of appeal on topics ranging from real estate development to unfair and anti-competitive business practices.

Adam served as a judicial extern for U.S. District Court Judge Robert Takasugi, and as a summer intern at the Department of Justice, Office of the U.S. Trustee in Los Angeles. He graduated from UCLA School of Law where served as a staff member for the Journal of Law and Technology.

Prior to attending law school Adam was a kindergarten teacher for the Teach for America program and graduated with a B.A. in art history and psychology from Duke University.
